

Your Unique Wedding at Prowse Farm

~ A Special Time and Place ~

Historic Prowse Farm – once the home of J. Malcolm Forbes and later to Martha Peabody Prowse – is now available for weddings. Whether you dream of wide open spaces or the charm of celebrating your wedding in a historic home, Prowse Farm can accommodate your vision.

Can you imagine being transported by horse and carriage to your reception. Picture your wedding party gathering in the breathtaking vista of Great Blue Hill as the backdrop to your celebration. Dine in the spacious King's Grant tent, and dance by candlelight or moonlight.

This is a location second to none: 44 acres of scenic landscape known as the "front lawn of the Blue Hills", nestled beautifully at the border of Canton and Milton, Massachusetts.

History abounds here. It is the home of Doty Tavern, where the Suffolk Resolves, precursor of the Declaration of Independence was drafted in 1774. In the 1890's "Forbes Farm", as it was then known, was a breeding farm for undefeated world champion trotting horses such as Nancy Hanks, Arion, Bingen and Peter the Great.
